Conceived by the Monroe Institute in 1991, Lifeline® is the first soul retrieval retreat to enable people to journey into the afterlife state and be of service to others. In this advanced retreat you will explore Focus Levels 23-27—the specific states of expanded consciousness associated with the afterlife and connecting with those who have transitioned.

Help those in need of assistance to transition into the afterlife realm. Sometimes, people aren't aware that they have died and are confused about what to do or what has happened. As a part of the Lifeline retreat, you will learn ways to enter into these states of consciousness, comfortably make contact with people who need assistance and gently guide them towards "The Light." We call this extraordinary service soul retrieval or soul rescue.

Reunite with loved ones. Despite the weighty topic, there's a social side to Lifeline. You'll have a chance to visit "The Park," an afterlife reception center. You'll connect with new guides or systems of guides. And you could reunite with friends and relatives who have made their transition.

Retrieve lost aspects of yourself and enrich your life. Retrievals can also include reclaiming lost aspects or fragments of yourself. This healing process enables you to reconnect, feel whole again and embrace your total self.

Thousands of participants have attended Lifeline in the last two decades. They report a range of life-enriching benefits—including becoming more self-assured, receiving insight and healing from loved ones who have passed, and coming into greater feeling of oneness with all that is.
